Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm Ivan, and my first life goal is to become a Full Stack developer. In these years of working in this amazing field I'm putting any efforts to reach this goal. I started slowly working on static pages using HTML and CSS and now I'm trying to deliver a Full Stack application using technologies like React and Redux, Node and SASS.

I want to briefly mention the passion for the Computer Science and in general the latest Technologies consequentially I'll never feel this job heavy.

I had the possibility to work in different multicultural environments in Sofia, Dublin and in Krakow and in general in jobs in which the relations with the client were important.

I think I could bring more than simple manpower to your company. I could bring someone with clear idea on what to do in the future, someone who wants to build a solid collaboration in the Full Stack development world.

About my personal Soft-Skills :

- Work with extremely proficiency in a Team as well as alone (Thanks to my Freelance experience)
- Tolerance for stressful deadlines. I think that with or without stress the deadline never change then let's start it.
- Extreme ductility with different working roles, refined during my experience in an Agile Development (Euroccor) working in any position (Production, Revision, Customer/Colligueas Assistance)
- Customer Service oriented.
- Work with different projects in contemporary even if they are not started by myself.

I look forward to the opportunity to discuss my background and abilities at your earliest convenience.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ivan Maddaluno.
